Companies often support their employees by helping them financially with a guarantee, collateral, a housing allowance or a monthly subsidy to assist them in buying a home. It is important to find out if your company has an employee housing policy which will help you with your home loan.

When you buy a property, you will need to pay a deposit of five per cent of the value of the property. You will also have to pay, in cash, for the costs of registering the mortgage bond and to have the property transferred to your name. This is also normally about five per cent of the value of the property.

If you do not have enough money for the deposit, then we can help you. All you have to do is to open a savings account at a bank and to start saving regularly. If possible, save a fixed amount every month for at least nine months.

Property probably is the safest investment in the world right now. And since a house can double up as a roof over your head, why not get one? Once the initial hassle over lawyers and interest rates is over, it is always easier dealing with a bank than a difficult landlord.

Sometimes an investment can double or triple in a couple of years. But even if it does not, your money is at least protected against most other economic dangers - the price of a landed property rarely, if ever, falls below its purchase value. Is there anything else in this world that can provide that kind of financial security?

Yes, it's easier said than done - you must have substantial savings to start with, not to mention a sizeable deposit. There are property fairs held several times a year all over the country where you can get first-hand explanation on new projects. Check out the Classifieds.

With Home you can search through thousands of home sales across South Africa from anywhere your smart device can find a signal. Find something you like and view the location on the map and get driving directions. What is more, you can see other listings nearby if you need a home near a specific destination like a school or work.

Home makes it easy with an instant home loan pre-approval for qualifying customers. The online affordability assessment based on your current financial situation gives an instant, accurate idea of what you can afford.
